

The graph displays the relationship between peaking times and FWHM ENC for numerous channels. A red dashed line at the bottom indicates a 4 keV threshold. The data series are represented by lines of various colors (yellow, purple, orange, green, blue, etc.) with markers at each peaking time. The yellow series shows the highest values, peaking at time 4, while most other series remain below 50 keV.

